

EDUCATION FOR BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF WAR EFFORT - 1943

Whereas, the President of the United States expressed the hope that national religious organizations hold their regular conventions in this crucial year of 1943, and

Whereas, he stressed their value as an important part of the morale-building and educational forces of the country,

Therefore, be it resolved, that we as American women meet this challenge in a spirit of humility and solemnity.

Be it further resolved, that we shall assume our role today of educating ourselves and our fellow men not only to a greater understanding of the war effort on the home front but also of post-war problems, thus preparing for the better world of tomorrow.

Be it further resolved, that we give our fighting forces every aid possible to help them win that for which they are so valiantly struggling—a just and everlasting peace.
